

Design and Build Conference 2025

13 May, London

Sponsorship Opportunities

Conference overview

Building on the sell-out success of the 2024 Digital Conference, the NI Digital Special Interest Group will host a series of four conferences in 2025. This first conference in the series will concentrate on Design and Build.

Digital strategies and solutions are transforming the nuclear new build sector by enhancing efficiency, safety, and cost-effectiveness throughout the project lifecycle. At this conference, we will dive into how digital technologies, such as advanced digital twins, modelling, simulation and visualisation, plus generative AI and cloud-based collaboration platforms, are already having an impact on large nuclear, SMR, and other nuclear design and construction projects in the UK and internationally.

The 2025 series of conferences will provide an opportunity for professionals to congregate, network and share views on the issues, opportunities and challenges affecting the application and implementation of digital advances in the nuclear sector.

Why Sponsor?
